

Meet Your Teachers

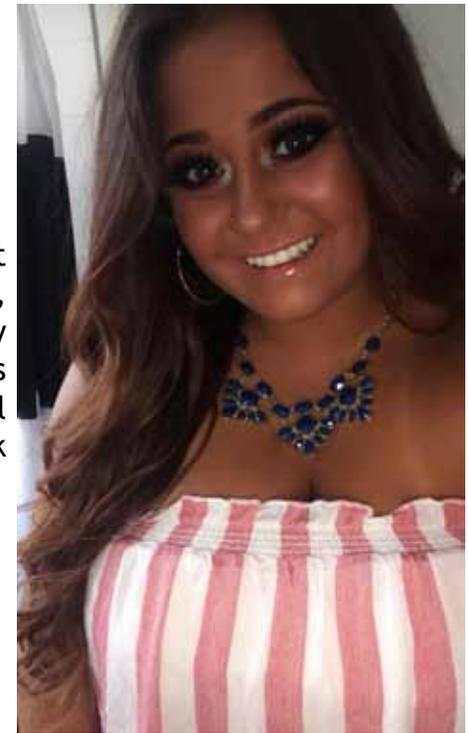

Ms. Liz

Ms. Liz Dynowski has been the lead instructor at HHPD for 20 years. She has an extensive background in dance and student mentoring. Ms. Liz has studied dance since she was three years old and started teaching dance, at the Diana School of Dance, at age 14. She also studied under Billy Siegenfeld, at Northwestern University, where she pursued her degree in Psychology. Throughout the years, Ms. Liz has performed professionally as a Saberette, she has danced on WGN's morning Bozo Show, Kidding Around, and a local cable's TEEN Talk Show. Her love of dance has passed on from one generation to another. Her choreography has been showcased in several local and national venues. During the competition season, the HHPD Company Dancers have won many awards and platinum trophies, and have come home with national titles and awards. Currently two of her pieces are Starboard's National 2018 winning champions. The HHPD Company Dancers have also performed in New York City, Disney World, Disneyland, and Royal Caribbean Cruise. It is during those Company trips that her dancers have had the opportunity to work with renowned choreographers from Broadway Dance Center, Joffrey Ballet and Disney. Ms. Liz's goal is to always provide a dance class that is both fun and challenging for her students. She thrives to give her dancers the best dance experience possible so that they may pursue their dreams of becoming professional dancers, teachers or choreographers. Many of her students that have graduated from the HHPD program have worked professionally in the dance world: some have performed professionally for Disney Studios, others have been showcased at the House of Blues in Chicago and many have become poms coaches for South Suburban Public and Private High Schools and Colleges. Miss Liz loves not only sharing her knowledge of dance but the friends and contacts she has made in the dance world with her HHPD students. She has worked with choreographers from Disney, Las Vegas, the New York City Joffrey Ballet and finalist from So You Think You Can Dance. Some of our HHPD advance competition students had the privilege of taking classes with Dareian Kujawa and Ade Obayomi from SYTYCD. Miss Liz looks forward to continuing to challenge her students, bring guest artists to HHPD, and promote the love of dance with all her students.

She loves working with children of all ages teaching them to love dance as much as she does.

Miss Kasia

Ms Kasia Sidor has been dancing at HHPD for eight years and her first dance class ever was at HHPD! Along with her dedication to HHPD for eight years, she has been tumbling for the same amount of time. During her four years in high school she participated in the school poms team and Orchesis dance club. Over the past summers she has also attended summer dance classes at other dance centers with the dance scholarship money she earned. With having experience in ballet, jazz, hip hop, tap, lyrical, contemporary, modern, pointe, acro, and pom, her favorite styles are pointe, pom, and hip hop. Miss Kasia is currently studying for her associate degree in business and is excited to begin her second year teaching at HHPD!

Miss Maddie

Miss Madison Goulooze started her dance career here at HHPD at the age of four. Since then dance has always been her passion! Over the years she has experienced a number of different styles including ballet, tap, jazz, African, lyrical, hip-hop, and pom. During her years at Conrady she danced on the school's dance team and then when getting into high school she was a part of the poms team and orchesis dance club. Now that high school is over she would still like to keep dance a part of her life whether it is on a team at school or as just a hobby. She loves to be around kids and can't wait to start teaching them about the thing she loves the most.
